Candy Before & After

You can save lives today!

The board members and staff of the Williams County Humane Society would like to thank you for another successful year. We receive no government funding and would not be here without your continued support.

Our mission is to provide new hope to homeless, abused and neglected animals and to engage the minds, hearts and hands of the community. We strive to achieve this by providing a sanctuary and compassion along with medical attention for all domesticated animals in our care. In an effort to reduce overpopulation, we spay and neuter all of our adopted pets before placing. We also now have in place an outreach program for low cost spay and neuter for the public.

Your support will allow WCHS to continue helping animals, like Candy (pictured above), who have nowhere else to turn. Candy came in as a stray. She had a serious skin infection, but thanks to our generous supporters, we were able to care for Candy until she was healthy enough for adoption. Because of supporters like you, Candy is living the good life in her forever home.
